Reid Sends $3,357 Check

Henry L. Reid Jr., Atlanta, Ga., former manager of the Pickaway County Fair and local Coca Cola bottler, has sent a check for $3,357.14 to the Pickaway County Agricultural Society to cover findings against him by state examiners.

The check was handed to County Prosecutor Ray W. Davis by Reid's local attorney J. W. Adkins Jr. Davis, in turn, gave the check to William Cook, secretary of the fair board.

Receipt of the check is not an admission that Reid took the funds in question while he managed the 1956 fair, nor does it clear him of possible criminal charges.

Reid, now living in Atlanta, was president of the local Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce and was 1955 Jaycee "Man of the Year". He was secretary-treasurer of the fair board from January 1952 until he resigned Feb. 28, 1957. He managed five Pickaway County fairs.

State Auditor James Rhodes on February 27 reported findings against Reid of $3,314.19 for the period from May 31, 1956 to Feb. 28, 1957.

THE EXAMINER reported an apparent deficit of $1,491.63 and a total of $1,822.56 in funds not accounted for.

Reid at that time said he had "nothing" to say about the findings of the state examiners. The examiners reported some records missing and Reid declared he had "no idea whatsoever what happened."

State examiners reported that some cash book expenditure pages were missing.

About 130 cancelled checks are missing from fair board files. All but six check stubs are on file, however.

Cook today said that letters will be written to all persons for whom the board has check stubs. If the persons did not receive the checks, they will be asked to sign an affidavit to that effect and will be issued duplicate checks. Cook said some have indicated they received the checks and others they did not.

Of the $3,357.14 total received here from Reid, about $900 of it is for the 130 cancelled checks. If there is any left after issuance of the duplicate checks, the balance will be returned to Reid.

First U.S. Space Venturer Is Poised New York Pilot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The man now designated to be America's first venturer into space is a poised New Yorker who takes the assignment in easy stride.

Sometime within the next two years, if everything goes according to schedule, Air Force Capt. Robert M. White will be piloting the X15 higher than man has ever flown.

The Air Force predicts the research plane now under construction will have an altitude potential of 100 miles.

It wasn't until last weekend, when his good friend Capt. Iven

C. Kincheloe was killed in a jet crash, that White knew he would be replacing Kincheloe as the No. 1 man in the highly secret X15 program.

Prior to that, he had been Kincheloe's "backup pilot."

How does he feel about his new status?

"I'd feel fine about it if it had come about in any other way. As an individual Kinch cannot be replaced. He was an entity in himself."

Tanned and trim, White has a handsome combination of blue eyes and brown hair that makes him look younger than his 34 years.

His natural poise is backed up by experience—4,200 hours as a pilot, including 52 combat missions in World War II and Korea. It was during the Korean War that White made application for the flight test center at Edwards Air Force Base, his station the past four years.

White married the former Doris Allan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 10 years ago in his native New York City. They have two youngsters.

White, interviewed after a X15 program, said the space aircraft will be carried aloft under the wing of a B52 bomber piloted by Capt. Charles Bock of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Somewhere in the lower stratosphere over Utah, Capt. Bock will release the X15 and White will fire the rocket plane's powerful engine. It's anticipated he may hit 4,000 m.p.h. in his missile-like climb.

Arrested Boys Said Geniuses In Electronics

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three teen-age boys, described by police as "absolute geniuses in making electronic devices and in making trouble for themselves," are in custody of juvenile authorities today on charges of stealing and tampering with telephone company equipment.

Acting on a tip, police took the youths into custody Monday. Officers said the boys had built their own phone exchange in an underground telephone tunnel with hundreds of dollars worth of equipment stolen from the phone company.

The arrests climaxed a year-long investigation by police and phone company detectives. The company's electronic equipment was unable to trace the source of long distance calls made from somewhere in the city's Highland Park section. Linemen tried to trace the calls by making a pole-by-pole check in the area, but had no luck. Police also had received a number of crank calls.

Police said the oldest boy, who is 17, designed a device that could be used to tap phone calls without being detected.

CRISIS IN LEBANON CONTINUES

Ike, Dulles Confer On Reply to New Khrushchev Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower conferred with Secretary of State Dulles today about getting off a speedy note to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on bitterly disputed plans for a Middle East summit conference.

The new Eisenhower letter may suggest a date in the next few days for a U.N. Security Council meeting to work out arrangements and a date for a summit session.

Officials said Eisenhower was certain to insist the meeting be held entirely within the regular procedures of the Council.

Dulles went to the White House shortly before noon and about four hours after he returned from the meeting of the Baghdad Pact powers at London.

He told reporters at the airport that he had read only fragments of Khrushchev's latest letter to Eisenhower and he would not comment until he had seen the full text and conferred with the President.

The Soviet leader's message was an angry denunciation of the President's determination to keep the proposed summit meeting in regular U.N. Security Council channels.

Khrushchev accused Eisenhower of deliberately confusing negotiations for a summit session in order to delay its start.

The Soviet leader also said he would prefer a summit session in Geneva outside the U.N.

Some officials said the Khrushchev letter was remarkably insulating for one head of a great power to send another. But they agreed Eisenhower's message of July 25 had been pretty tough in tone also.

The United States is prepared to take part in an 11-nation meeting of the Security Council.

Officials said Eisenhower and Dulles are still thinking as they were late last week in terms of a summit session at New York around Aug. 11 or 12.

Some authorities felt Eisenhower should counter Khrushchev's blast by announcing he will show Monday night.

Goldfine Faces Contempt Rap

Probers Recommend Criminal Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators today recommended contempt of Congress proceedings against Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) said the investigating subcommittee's recommendation would be submitted as soon as possible to its parent, the House Commerce Committee.

If endorsed by the full committee, the contempt citation would go to the House.

And, if approved by the House, it would go to the U.S. district attorney for handling as a criminal case.

The subcommittee carefully laid the groundwork for its action several weeks ago, demanding answers to a series of 23 questions about the Boston millionaire's financial dealings.

Goldfine with equal firmness refused to answer, contending the questions had nothing to do with the subcommittee's inquiry on whether improper influence had been brought on federal agencies.

Goldfine readily answered numerous other subcommittee questions, claiming a long personal friendship as the basis for his frequent contacts with Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

But he contended, as Adams had earlier, that he had received no special favors from government agencies as a result.

Subcommittee action would be only the first step toward possible prosecution for contempt of Congress. Action by the full committee and by the House itself would be required to send a recommendation to the Justice Department for action.

The Justice Department then would decide whether court action was warranted, and if so would present the case to a grand jury. A contempt conviction carries penalties up to a $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

Goldfine has textile mill and real estate interests. The subcommittee questioned him for eight days about his dealings with the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission on wool labeling and stock registrations.

DAV Chieftain Defends His Aide

CINCINNATI (AP)—The national commander of the Disabled American Veterans says his embattled adjutant, Vivian Corbly of Cincinnati, "carries out the decisions of the national executive committee."

And the committee gave Corbly a unanimous vote of confidence earlier this month, according to Commander Paul E. Frederick Jr., Monday night.

The Ohio DAV last week passed a resolution calling for Corbly's resignation on grounds he is inefficient and has too much control of national affairs. Five other state DAV departments have passed similar resolutions.

Frederick said the dissent is apparently because of executive committee policy, but the state departments are "taking it out on Corbly."

Faubus Hopes For 3rd Term

Arkansas Democrats Casting Votes Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus is hoping that his stand in the Little Rock integration crisis will sweep him to a third-term Democratic nomination in today's primary.

Faubus, who ordered state troops to block school integration, faced two opponents.

In strongly Democratic Arkansas, nomination is equivalent to election.

Faubus not win a majority today, he will face the runner-up in a runoff second primary Aug. 12.

The two candidates opposing the controversial incumbent—Chris Finkbeiner, 37-year-old Little Rock meat packing company executive, and Lee Ward, 51, of Paragould, Ark., a state court judge—both conceded Faubus an excellent chance to lead the preferential ticket. But they pinned their hopes on forcing the governor into a runoff.

Both Ward and Finkbeiner have strongly criticized Faubus' action last September when the governor prevented nine Negro children from entering Little Rock Central High School by placing a cordon of National Guardsmen around the school.

After Faubus removed the state troops in face of a Federal District Court injunction directing him to cease interference, President Eisenhower sent regular Army paratroopers and federalized the State Guard to enforce the court-ordered integration.

Finkbeiner and Ward said they too believed in racial segregation but prescribed only "legal" methods of maintaining it.

Weatherman Gains New Popularity

The weatherman is one of the nicest guys around—for the time being at least.

The sun was shining brightly today, a rather uncommon happening in these parts the last few weeks. However, local citizens are hoping that today will not be a repeat of yesterday's weather picture.

The weatherman's popularity suddenly dropped yesterday when sunny skies turned to rain at about 5 p. m. Rainfall was recorded at .30 inches.

The forecast today gives no indication of rain tonight or tomorrow, but most local folks probably are of the opinion that seeing is believing.

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP)—A huge B52 jet bomber crashed today three miles south of Loring Air Force Base killing eight men. The craft was returning from a routine training mission.

The plane was approaching the air field with a ceiling of only 400 feet. It was raining at the time. The bomber crashed in a field three miles from the Maine-New Brunswick border.

Pacifist Faces Charge for Pacific Trip

HONOLULU (AP)—Pacifist Earle L. Reynolds returned to the mainland today to prepare his defense against charges of illegally entering the U. S. nuclear test zone near Eniwetok.

Before Reynolds left Monday night aboard an airliner, his attorney asked dismissal of the federal trespass charge, saying his arrest July 1 on his ketch Phoenix was unconstitutional. A hearing was set for Aug. 6.

Reynolds, 48-year-old former professor at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, left Honolulu June 11 for Hiroshima, Japan, with his wife, son and daughter and a Japanese crewman.

Mrs. Reynolds said Monday that the Phoenix will sail for Honolulu today from Kwajalein, where it proceeded under Coast Guard escort after Reynolds' arrest. The 50-foot yacht will be manned only by their son Ted, 19, and Niichi Mikami, 35, of Hiroshima, the crewman, Mrs. Reynolds said.

The cruise, expected to take 40 to 50 days, is considered dangerous for just two men.

Air Force Plane Due To Carry Chennault

Chennault, who died of lung cancer Sunday, will lie in state in Washington before burial Wednesday.

Haiti Rebellion Claimed Crushed

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—A band of exiled army officers seized barracks next to the National Palace early today but the rebels were reported wiped out in a swift government counterattack.

The band, believed to number no more than six, landed by launch under cover of darkness, commandeered trucks and seized the yellow stucco Caserne Desalines back of the palace shortly after midnight.

The band captured 50 soldiers after a brief clash in which the army said four soldiers were killed.

Government forces counterattacked, liberated the soldiers, then killed the last holdout rebel, the army reported.

Radio Port-au-Prince said the rebels were supporters of former President Paul Magloire, now in exile in the United States. It also said two Americans were in the rebel group.

Shooting broke out shortly after midnight.

A succession of radio announcements over the only station in operation this morning urged the people to arm themselves and go to the palace to defend President Francois Duvalier. The radio also summoned all soldiers to the palace.

The situation was extremely confused and no one seemed to know what was going on. Among the armed civilians in the streets was the underminister of commerce, Lucien Chauvet.

A newspaper reporter asked Chauvet what was happening. "I don't know yet," he replied.

Magloire was overthrown by a general strike in December 1956 after serving as president six years. He is now in New York City.

The radio said rebels also had seized the army barracks at St. Marc, about 100 miles north of Port-au-Prince. St. Marc is a small port city with a highway leading into the interior.

U. S. Ambassador Gerald Drew warned American residents here to keep off the streets.

Although the radio said "the enemy has two Americans with them," there was no identification by name.

President Duvalier has held office for the past nine months. During that period he has survived three conspiracies against his government.

Magloire was forced into exile after he tried to extend his six-year term as president with the backing of army elements.

The Negro republic has seen little political peace since then. For a considerable period the army was the actual ruler.

Explorer IV Sending Back Vital Data

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Explorer IV satellite is sending back a wealth of information on a hot field of radiation high in space.

Although in orbit only three days, the heaviest and most important U. S. satellite already has confirmed the existence of the killer rays at an altitude of 600 miles above the earth.

Dr. James Van Allen of Iowa State University, who directed the development and assembly of the satellite's complex instruments, said the data so far looks very satisfactory.

Explorer IV, which is expected to whirl around the globe for the next five years, records radiation energy and intensity on four counters and relays the messages on two radios which are expected to last for two months.

Meanwhile, the Air Force stepped up preparations for the first moon launching. It was learned the target date was set for sometime between Aug. 15 and 17.

The Air Force reportedly will attempt to shoot a satellite around the moon on a one-way flight. A three-stage version of the Thor-Able rocket will be the launching vehicle.

The Army's first chance to shoot the moon probably will not come before November.

Premier Solh Escapes Bomb Assassination

Explosion Misses Pro-Government Official by Hair

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—An attempt to assassinate Premier Sami Solh missed by a split second today. This and heavy exchanges of gunfire in Beirut emphasized that Lebanon's 81-day crisis is still on despite some expressed hopes for early peace.

The incidents coincided with 15 new demands by the opposition National Front just as it seemed possible a compromise might be reached on election of a new president, which some thought might lead to an easing of this nation's problems.

The opposition and supporters of the pro-Western government were reported practically agreed on the up for a high-level Security Council meeting, whether or not the Soviet leader shows up.

They recalled that the Soviet Union threatened to boycott the current Geneva technical talks on disarmament, but changed its mind when American officials went to the meeting despite last-minute Soviet objections.

The White House foreshadowed Eisenhower's attitude when it announced that there was no change in the President's proposal for keeping the meeting within the U.N. despite Khrushchev's newest blast.

Renewed backing for that stand came from three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senators Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) and Homer Capehart (R-Ind.).

But Mansfield suggested that a Security Council meeting could be held in Geneva in a move to accept part of Khrushchev's suggestion.

The initial White House reaction came from reading news accounts reporting the text of Khrushchev's letter as broadcast by Radio Moscow. The full text of Khrushchev's message still had not been received by the State Department.

army commander, Gen. Fuad Shehab, as a compromise. But the National Front turned thumbs down on any candidate unless he would agree to demand immediate withdrawal of American troops.

It also demanded immediate resignation of President Camille Chamoun, whose term does not expire until Sept. 23.

The U.S. Embassy announced that American troops would be withdrawn only if Lebanon's internal security is re-established and the United Nations provides adequate guarantees of Lebanon's independence.

In the assassination attempt, eight persons were killed and a

Herald Has Its Own Hopalong in Tarlton

By PAUL SMALLWOOD

Herald Staff Writer

Visitors passing through Tarlton most any evening of the week can see a touch of the old Wild West—when a good horse and saddle was the pride and joy of every man.

The ring of days gone by is provided by Damon Fox, 15, probably the most well-known boy in Tarlton. One reason for the popularity is because he is the only regular Circleville Herald carrier in the quiet little village.

The main reason is that Damon does not pass his papers by standard methods of walking or riding a bicycle, but on top a horse.

Day in and day out, young Fox saddles up his pony, folds his papers and sets out tall in the saddle. He handles his prize pony just as any other newspaper carrier manages a bicycle.

ALTHOUGH Damon is a veteran carrier of about five years, he has been using the pony for only a few months. He likes this pony express type delivery and so do his Tarlton customers.

In fact, Damon often runs late on his route because many of his 44 customers like to stop and talk a spell, mainly about his unusual way of delivering papers. He also comes in for his share of kidding, especially from the younger set which undoubtedly envies his unique business method.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fox, Damon is not the first member of the family to serve as a carrier for The Herald. His older brother and sisters were carriers before him and his younger sister, Mona Sue, 12, helps sometimes now. His older brother now is with the U. S. Marines, stationed in California.

Damon Fox and "The Pony"

Damon is quick to explain that he likes his job, especially since he can share the burden with his devoted pony. The youth enthusiastically said that he likes the 8-year-old mare so much that he can't find a name good enough for her.

He said that he will just continue to refer to her as the "pony" or the "mare" until he can come across a name which is suitable.

His intense fondness of the handsome whitish-gray pony was further explained when he proudly said that he would rather have her than an automobile, probably the utmost desire of youngsters in this day and age.

THE serious-minded youth, speaking with all sincerity, said "I wouldn't sell her for anything." According to his parents, Damon's care and patience with the pony proves this statement.

Damon recently had the pony shod after learning that sidewalks and hard pavement were hurting her feet. Now her clanking stride has become a familiar sound in Tarlton.

Young Fox said that he never has had any serious accidents while performing his horseborne duties, although there have been some close calls. "The steel shoes cause her to slip once in awhile, but she always manages to stay on her feet," the proud owner related.

"Tarlton dogs aren't too friendly terms with the mare, but they usually give her legs a wide berth," he laughed.

A rabid horse fancier, Damon belongs to the local 4-H Clover Leaf Riding Club and expects to enter his pony in activities of the group in the near future.

Damon's unusual method of delivery has become a byword in Tarlton. The youngster likes his work and all the people in this small community—and in turn the community likes him and his pony.

More new freight cars were placed in operation by U. S. railroads in 1957 than in any of the past 30 years with the exception of 1948.

Reluctant General Shehab May Be Lebanon's Savior

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

The one man with an outside chance of restoring Lebanon to some semblance of political normal is a reluctant politician.

Square-jawed Gen. Fuad Shehab may be able to help solve the Lebanese crisis over the presidency by agreeing to serve. But he doesn't like the idea. He considers himself strictly a military man.

Shehab has interposed his bulky figure midway between the two major warring factions—the supporters of President Camille Chamoun and those who want Chamoun's scalp.

As a member of the Maronite sect—of the Roman Catholic Church, Shehab is eligible for the presidency under Lebanon's unwritten law dividing the government carefully among the nation's numerous sects, Moslem and Christian.

Because of his neutral position, he has been looked upon as probably the only possibility for compromise candidate. But all along, Shehab has insisted he was not in politics. His job, he claimed, was that of a soldier—the commander in chief anxious to save the republic.

Reluctant or not, Shehab is in a position to attempt to untangle the Lebanese mess. He is respected throughout the whole country, by Moslems and Christians alike. He comes of a heroic family, descended directly from the Emir Bashire Shehab who ruled Lebanon under the Ottoman Turks in the 19th century.

While a Christian, he has relatives both among the Moslems and the Druses, an offshoot sect of Islam which is deeply involved in the current rebellion. Shehab's Moslem cousin, Khaled Shehab, once was premier. Another cousin, Abdul Aziz Shehab, has been serving as director general of the Interior Ministry.

Shehab, now 56, has considered his role to be that of pacifier, to prevent the Lebanese from hurling themselves into a Moslem-Christian religious war. For this reason his army took little resolute action in the rebellion, leaving most of the fighting to the genarmie and the Christian irregulars supporting Chamoun.

But while Shehab's position is strong, he is no political strongman. In fact, he is essentially weak in politics—the stolid military man, French trained as a professional soldier and lost in the maze of intrigue woven by experts in intrigue.

Key Stock Issues Show New Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrials lost ground in a fairly active stock market early this afternoon. As the market dipped on average, key stocks showed losses running from fractions to more than a point. Rails and utilities held ground fairly well.

Quite a few pivotal issues traded about unchanged and there was a fair assortment of gainers. Trading was heavy at the start. The ticker tape fell behind for seven minutes.

Some first half earnings reports were sharply below the 1957 figures, notably among oils and Kennecott Copper which fell about 2 points.

Oils, steels, nonferrous metals, rubbers and chemicals were generally lower.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Cocony-Mobil, whose earnings were down, dropped fair-sized fractions. Royal Dutch fell about a point.

Chrysler canceled a fractional gain. Bethlehem eased but Jones & Laughlin pushed ahead fractionally.

Battery Cable Burns

Circleville Firemen were summoned to an auto blaze at 7 a. m. today near 501 N. Court St.

The car, owned by Patty Holbrook, was slightly damaged when a battery cable caught fire. The call was answered by Chief Talmer Wise and firemen Fred Howell, Bernard Wolfe and Dan Eitel.

Boy Frostditten By Coke Machine

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A 16-year-old youth was in a hospital today with a frostditten hand because he was afraid to call for help after it got caught in a soft-drink machine. He said he didn't want to be mistaken for a thief.

John Polinski said the mechanism began turning after he inserted a coin but it stopped before the bottle was delivered. He opened the top and tried to extract the bottle but the mechanism started again and caught his hand.

It was some time before his plight was discovered. Firemen had to dismantle the machine to release him.

Rubirosa Given Post

CUIDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Porfirio Rubirosa today was appointed Dominican ambassador to Cuba by President Trujillo. Rubirosa's current post is minister-counselor in the embassy in Paris.

Reasons for the attack on Solh were not immediately clear since most rebel animosity in the nearly three months of rebellion has been against President Chamoun.

Parliament Speaker Adel Osseyran told The Associated Press there is general agreement among all parties that the army commander, Gen. Fuad Shehab, will be elected to succeed pro-Western President Camille Chamoun.

Osseyran said Shehab would get a virtually unanimous vote when Parliament meets to elect a president Thursday.

Shehab has been mentioned as a compromise candidate, but until now censors had eliminated such mention of him in dispatches from Beirut.

If the rebels and the government supporters do unite behind Shehab, he may be able to end the 81-day-old rebellion of anti-Chamoun forces who opposed his Western leanings and reported ambitions for a second term. An end to the rebellion presumably would result in the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon.

Boy Struggling To Stay Alive

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eleven-year-old Ronald Rusche of Canton Monday night spent a "very poor night" at Children's Hospital, where he is recovering from a rare kidney transplant.

Suffering from a congenital blockage of the kidneys, he received a kidney taken from a woman who had died of a heart attack. He has remained on the critical list since the operation a week ago.

Doctors at University Hospital, where the operation was performed, said Ronald has taken a turn for the worse. They said the level of waste products in the blood was high.

MIGs Shoot Down Pair Of Nationalists Jets

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Communist MIGs shot down two Nationalist Chinese F84 Thunderjet fighter planes over the Formosa Strait today.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu, a spokesman for the National Defense Ministry, said the Communist planes attacked when the Thunderjets were on a routine patrol over East Tungshan Island, about 60 miles south of Quemoy.

Both pilots bailed out and one was rescued. A search for the other was being made.

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, spent 35 of his summer vacations at Beinn Breagh (Beautiful Mountain) overlooking Baddeck Bay, Nova Scotia.

Premier Solh

5-year-old girl hurt, but Solh was not touched.

A car parked along the road was blown up as he was driving into Beirut. Detonator wires from the car ran up a hillside to a spot from which two men were seen to run.

Had they delayed the detonation a split second longer, Solh would have been blown to bits.

The dead included a policeman on a motorcycle, three genarmes, and four persons in a car just ahead of Solh.

The heavy firing in Beirut occurred around the main government building, in Capital Square near the postoffice, and in the Zerif quarter near The Associated Press office. Security forces fired guns from armored cars in reply to rebel small arms and automatic rifle fire. Dynamite explosions were heard.

The attempted assassination occurred nine miles outside Beirut. The Prime Minister passes there daily en route to his Beirut office from his suburban home. The road runs along a sheer drop down to the Beirut River in the valley below.

An American-style car, thought to be a taxicab, had been parked there three days, with a rock under a wheel.

As the Solh procession approached, a policeman stepped forward and asked the green car to pull to the side of the road and permit the Solh car to go ahead. At that moment the explosion occurred, knocking the motorcycle and the green car far down the slope.

Reasons for the attack on Solh were not immediately clear since most rebel animosity in the nearly three months of rebellion has been against President Chamoun.

Parliament Speaker Adel Osseyran told The Associated Press there is general agreement among all parties that the army commander, Gen. Fuad Shehab, will be elected to succeed pro-Western President Camille Chamoun.

An end to the rebellion presumably would result in the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon.

Despite the mounting signs of political truce, there was fighting Monday four miles northeast of Lebanon's northern seaport of Tripoli, around the town of Zagharta.

Two families, the Frangiyehs and the Duwayhys, were involved. They have had a long-standing feud and now have split over politics, the Duwayhys favoring the Chamoun government and the Frangiyehs opposing it.

Jordan made new charges against the Syrian province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic. The Jordanian government said security forces had seized "large quantities of arms, ammunition and explosives" last night near the Syrian border.

Yes, It Rained Again on July 29

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Citizens of this southwestern Pennsylvania community usually don't pay too much attention to rain. But today was different because there is a belief that it always—well almost always—rains in Waynesburg on July 29.

Each year, Atty. John Daily, head of Waynesburg's Rain Day Club, wagers a hat that it will rain. This year he put up a tri-cornered Revolutionary War hat against a jet pilot helmet put up by Maj. Donald Johnston, commander of the 147th Squadron of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard.

At 12:10 a. m. a steady rain began falling—marking the 73rd time in 82 years that rain has fallen on Waynesburg on July 29. Daily had won his helmet.

Swiss Expert Says UFO Are 'Real'

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Dr. Carl Jung, Swiss psychologist, says in a report that Unidentified Flying Objects are real and "show signs of intelligent guidance by quasihuman pilots."

The Air Force has said investigation of flying saucers reported over the past 10 years has produced no evidence that such things exist.

"I can only say for certain these things are not a mere rumor, something has been seen," Jung said in the report. "A purely psychological explanation is ruled out."

Jung, who started his research on UFOs in 1944, released his report through the UFO filter center of the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization here. It was released by L. J. Lorenzen of Holloman Air Force Base.

"I have gathered a mass of observations of Unidentified Flying Objects since 1944," Jung said.

"The discs do not behave in accordance with physical laws, but as though without weight."

"If the extraterrestrial origin of this phenomena should be confirmed, this would prove the existence of an intelligent interplanetary relationship. What such a fact might mean for humanity cannot be predicted."

"But it would put us without doubt in the extremely precarious position of primitive communities in conflict with the superior culture of the whites."

"That the construction of these machines proves a scientific technique immensely superior to ours cannot be argued."

County Bond Sales $68,167

Ohioans during June purchased more than $25½ million in Series E and Series H Savings Bonds for a sales gain of four million dollars over the same month a year ago.

Leading all industrial counties by a sizeable margin are Lucas and Montgomery counties while Hocking, Coshocton, Athens and Harrison lead the state in percentage of sales quota attained. Sales in Pickaway County for June totaled $68,167.

County Savings Bond Chairman Judge William D. Radcliff, reported that "the financial hardships of the past year have dramatically pointed out the value of having a savings nest egg... many individuals and communities have found that the large backlog of Savings Bonds held by some 40 million Americans is indeed a tremendous source of spending power."

U.S., Canadian Insurance Sales Booming High

Northern Salesmen Peddle Annuities Yanks Stress Life

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The insurance salesman is playing a two-way street across our northern boudary. The busy financial thoroughfare between Canada and the United States shows a traffic increase today in insurance as well in capital investment.

Sales both here and there have increased despite the recession. And life insurance policies of all types foreign and domestic — by companies, saving banks, fraternal and assessment organizations and the government's veterans kind — now come to more than 500 billion dollars and involve 121 million Americans.

Canadian companies sold nearly one billion dollars of life insurance to Americans last year for a gain of 90 million dollars over 1956. U.S. companies peddled more than 1 1/2 billion dollars in policies to our northern neighbors for an increase of almost 390 million dollars.

The Canadians are particularly strong at selling annuities to Americans. U.S. salesmen at selling ordinary life policies.

But the recent spurt on the part of American salesmen hasn't had too much effect yet on the overall exchange of American and Canadian dollars in premiums and benefits, both of which are in pretty close balance. This could be changed in the future if the American gains of the last two years fell into a definite trend.

Capital investment by Americans in Canadian securities and in development of Canadian resources has fretted some Canadians who fear it might lead to financial influence over Canada.

In the case of the insurance companies, however, total outside investments are still in favor of the Canadians. The 12 Canadian companies doing business in this country have invested 1 1/4 billion dollars here. The 35 U.S. companies doing business in Canada list less than 1 1/2 billion dollars in assets there.

Figures from America's Institute of Life Insurance and from the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Assn. show that in 1957 the 12 Canadian companies had 199 million dollars in premium income from policies in force here, while the 35 U.S. companies garnered 191 million dollars from Canadians. The Canadians' score on annuity premiums was 46 1/2 million dollars to the Americans' 10 1/2 million.

Both sides gained over 1956 when the Canadians took in 188 1/2 million dollars and the Americans 176 1/2 million.

State Appealing Land Appraisals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state appealed Monday from an award by Jefferson County courts of $896,000 for 20 1/2 acres taken for highway improvements at the intersection of Ohio 213 and Ohio 7.

The property has been the site of the county children's home since 1914.

George J. Thormyer, then acting highway director, contended in his appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court that the land itself was worth no more than $38,650. The award by the lower courts included $108,000 for the land.

Checker Champ Says Foes Avoiding Him These Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Marion Tinsley, 31-year-old world's checker champion, has a problem. He is running out of opponents.

"I don't play checkers as much as I used to," he said rather wistfully. "I sometimes have a hard time finding opponents. They don't even like me to show up at tournaments anymore."

There is good reason for this lack of opposition. In the past eight years the tall, shy, studious-looking mathematician has lost only three checker games.

"I lost a game in Ireland last year," he said, "and then there was that exhibition game a few years back."

The third loss came this summer when Tinsley successfully defended his world title in England against British champion Derek Oldbury. Tinsley lost the first game of their 30-game match. It was the first time he had been beaten in tournament play in 11 years.

Like most champions, Tinsley's virtuosity is the result of a passion for the game coupled with a single-minded devotion to its mastery.

"At one time when I was still learning I played about six hours a day," he said. "I read everything I could find on the subject. I played at every opportunity." At one time Tinsley had 40 correspondence games going at the same time.

Tinsley's Columbus home has a bookcase crammed with checker books. Others are stacked on the TV set. In a corner of the living room stands the three-foot high trophy he received when he won the world title in 1955 from Walter Hillman, a Gary, Ind., steelworker.

"I wrapped the trophy in a sheet and lugged it all the way back on the train from the tournament site at Peoria, Ill. It looked like I was carrying a body," he said.

Tinsley doesn't remember when he first learned to play checkers. But he became a serious student of the game at 16 when he discovered a book on the subject.

"Most people don't realize how deep the game is," Tinsley said. "The secret of good checker playing is planning ahead. You must think 20 to 30 moves ahead or you are lost."

Tinsley paid his way through college with earnings from checker exhibitions and tournaments. He has received a doctorate in mathematics from Ohio State University and this fall will teach at Florida State University.

Does Tinsley play chess? "Everybody asks me that question," he said wearily. "Yes, but I play chess just for fun. I play checkers for blood. People look down on checkers as inferior to chess but that's because they don't understand checkers. It's a very deep game and takes years to understand."

What could the amateur player do to improve his game?

"Slow down," advises Tinsley. "The amateur moves too fast. He doesn't take time to think ahead. What looks like an immediate advantage can have disastrous consequences 20 moves later."

Having won just about every known checker title and considered by connoisseurs the finest checker player of all time, Tinsley plans a gradual withdrawal from active competition.

"After all there are more things in the world than checkers," he says with a broadness of mind unusual in the specialist. About the only definite plans he has are for another defense of his world title next year—that is if he can find a challenger.

New Look at Johnny

ASHLAND, Ohio (P)—John Chapman, better known as Johnny Appleseed because he planted many apple trees in the late 1700s and early 1800s, used his knowledge of trees in more ways than one, historians here say.

During the War of 1812 against the British, he is reputed to have slipped through Ohio forests on a 54-mile round trip from the block house at Mansfield to Mount Vernon and back, in one day.

The purpose was to warn settlers of Indian massacres incited by the British and to bring soldiers from Mount Vernon to defend the Mansfield block house.

'Tales of Universe' Slated For Fall Run on Television

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A wise man once pleaded his king so greatly that the monarch told him, "as a reward you may have anything you desire, up to half my kingdom."

"Sire," said the wise man, "my desires are very simple. I would be more than content if you would reward me in grains of wheat, in this manner:

"Lay one grain on the first square of a chess board. On the next square, two grains. And so on for each of the 64 squares on the board."

The king thought this was a small request, until he tried to pay off. There wasn't that much wheat in his kingdom, or even in the world.

This is one of the "Tales of the Universe" that research scientist Dr. Heinz Haber is bringing to television this fall.

How many grains of wheat did the wise man actually request? "The figure is astronomical," said Dr. Haber, "and for all practical purposes, meaningless. You can get a pretty fair idea of it, though, if you say that all the wheat harvested in the world since Christ was born wouldn't be enough."

Dr. Haber, science consultant for Walt Disney studios and Television Station KNXT, has worked up 52 half-hour programs, each answering such apparently simple questions as "why is the sky blue?" and "why do stars have such funny names?"

The show, which will start about Oct. 1, is aimed at adults, but youngsters probably will enjoy it, too. It will be telecast locally on KNXT the first few weeks. If it clicks, Dr. Haber says, there are plans to put the program on the CBS network.

Tall, handsome and friendly, Dr. Haber could become a new TV personality. At 45, with 20 years of scholarly research behind him, he believes his scientific career is only beginning.

"Some years ago I came to the realization that Americans are not really afraid of science," he says. "They just need someone to explain it to them. Who is better qualified to explain science than a scientist?"

"The trouble is, so many scientists don't want to bother—they're too busy. This program is designed to let down the drawbridge to science's ivory towers."

Dr. Haber has made a specialty of letting down drawbridges in the past few years. In 1953 he wrote a book, "Man in Space," which became the title of a Walt Disney TV show. He narrated the portion of the program which dealt with space medicine, a field in which he pioneered at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, Tex.

Haber, born May 15, 1913 in Mannheim, Germany, won his doctorate in astronomy in 1939. During World War II he was chief of the department of spectroscopy at Kaiser Wilhelm Institute. After the war, American occupation forces hired him to instruct military personnel and in 1946 he was sent to Randolph Field, where he remained five years. In 1952 he joined the faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles. When his work with Disney began taking most of his time, the university gave him a leave of absence but still listed him as "visiting professor."

Federal Education Bill Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big federal aid to education bill was approved today by a Senate Labor subcommittee.

The bill provides thousands of scholarships and other assistance designed chiefly to promote science education.

The subcommittee left it up to the full committee to decide the duration of the program. If this group should vote for the four years provided in the House passed bill, the cost of the Senate bill would be about 1 1/2 billion dollars or 430 million more than the House bill.

Car Dealers Idicted for Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-two car dealers in the Washington area faced charges today of conspiring to jack up the price of new cars in violation of antitrust laws.

Indictments returned Monday by a federal grand jury also accused the dealers of collusion in setting artificially high prices for parts and repairs.

The indictments were the first returned in a Justice Department probe of car pricing practices. Other grand juries are investigating the car markets in New York, San Francisco, Cleveland and Detroit.

Indicted here were the area's 17 franchised Ford dealers, the 14 Chevrolet dealers and the 11 Oldsmobile dealers.

mobile dealers. In addition, the Ford Motor Co. and the Greater Washington Chevrolet Dealers Assn. cooperative were charged with joining the conspiracy to fix prices to the detriment of open competition.

The basic charge was that each of the three groups of dealers conspired to set minimum prices "substantially in excess" of those recommended by manufacturers.

The charges were denied by several of the dealers and by the Ford Motor Co.

The dealers said the only agreement ever entered into was one setting up a suggested asking price for cars. The asking price, they said, was never the selling price because of varying trade-in allowances and discounts.

Shale May Fill Oil Needs

Up into the last century the greatest available source of oil was the whale. How even this huge mammal in his then-large numbers could be a recent main dependence for oil—illuminating and lubricating—is amazing enough.

Fortunately for the industrial revolution and man's technical advances in many fields, petroleum began to fill the need a century ago. Now the entire civilized world depends on oil from the ground.

Two years ago a crisis in the Middle East was forming in the nationalization of the Suez Canal by Egypt. When the crisis reached full bloom it was a lulu. The canal was blocked with sunken hulks, and the West came hard up against a sobering fact. It was that the Middle East held about two-thirds of all the "available" petroleum known to exist outside the Soviet realm.

The new regime in Iraq talks about keeping up the oil trade through the big European and American outfits that alone can exploit, transport and refine it. But the Soviet Union has a clear interest in being able to deny it to Europe particularly.

The U. S. might again find it has Europe's oil needs to fill—while finding itself without its regular imports from the Middle East. In that case, how great would be the strain upon known U. S. oil reserves?

The squeeze on it could be excruciating for the future of the nation in peace or war. But there now seems to be another historic break through on the horizon—in making oil available from that oily rotten rock called shale. A new process of heating crushed shale, it is claimed, can produce crude oil "competitively" with oil from wells.

According to the Oil Shale Corporation: "The world's largest reserves of oil, seven times greater than the world's estimated reserves of crude oil, life safely within the borders of the United States."

Patent ownership is claimed for "mixing previously-heated ceramic balls with the mined and crushed shale in a revolving drum or retort," oil and gas coming off. If the key to cheap extraction of shale oil is at hand, the news is the best oil news Americans have heard in a long time.

New Stamps Easy on Dunces

Painful is the thought of the scheduled increase in the price of a stamp for a letter from three cents to four cents. But it is not surprising, in view of what has been done to the value of the dollar.

Yet there is a happier thought. Somehow it is less painful to figure how many four-centers can be procured for the amount of money usually spent on stamps. And the person who sells stamps will not have to fuss around so much with a knitted brow. Not the experts at the post office windows, of course—the cash girls who keep stamps as a favor to customers or employees.

You can't just ask for a dollar's worth of 3s, you know. That would be 33 stamps—an uneven number to tear out of a sheet—and a penny left over. The buyer usually takes a penny change.

But what a pleasure to ask for—and to sell—a dollar's worth of 4s. That's 25 stamps, period. They're easy to tear off in a five-square block.

From the standpoint of realism in the inflated costs of handling the mail, it wouldn't be surprising if the nickel postage rate came along in a few years. Then the ineffective protests of the populace may be offset by the contented noises made by stamp buyers and sellers whose knowledge of arithmetic is rudimentary.

Niagara Falls Business Off

Distressing news from Niagara Falls. It seems the honeymoon business has fallen off drastically.

Newlyweds have several continents to choose from, now, though. Air travel has made a two-week honeymoon in Europe or South America easy.

So, those brides who marry just "to get such a nice trip" aren't really losing a falls—they're gaining a whole world.

West Finally Takes a Stand

For a dozen years many Americans have criticized their government's foreign policy. Some were convinced the big mistake was in not chasing the Russians out of East Europe at the close of World War II.

The Yalta agreement, the loss of China, the stalemate in Korea—all have contributed to some American thinking that the country was merely attempting to stave off the inevitable.

Now the United States has acted. The American people agree that action had to come some time if the eroding effect of the red push into all parts of the world were to be halted.

Courtin' Main

There are two sides to all arguments—the big job being to convince the other person that his is the wrong one.

Soviet In Gunless War

American policy, since the end of the war, has been one of placating enemies, often buying them off, and neglecting friends. As a result, we are weak in friendships, many of our so-called friends actually being neutral; we have many enemies.

The Administration of the United Nations, which should have no policy at all and which should exist for housekeeping purposes only, does have a policy. It is that of preserving the United Nations at any cost, even at the cost of demoralizing nation after nation.

In the case of Lebanon, for instance, the fact is that Lebanon is a member of the United Nations, is a sovereign state and as such is the equal of every other member of the United Nations. But the United Nations, in the Lebanese rebellion, has made no distinction between the Government of a member country and the enemy states which are supporting, fomenting and arming a rebellion in Lebanon.

No Lebanese will agree that Dag Hammarskjöld is impartial as between Lebanon and Egypt or can it be said that he is impartial between Egypt and Israel. If he is objective and impartial, he has not displayed these qualities, keeping them a dark, diplomatic secret.

Perhaps this is United Nations policy which its Secretary General is carrying out, namely that the peace of the world can best be maintained by destroying small states because they become targets in the Russian or Arabic or Chinese march of imperialism.

The paradox of our age is the rise of imperialism while all the world is talking about a universal peace.

Khrushchev, who heads the fastest moving imperialist effort of these times, accuses the United States of imperialism. Speaking at a Kremlin dinner, he said:

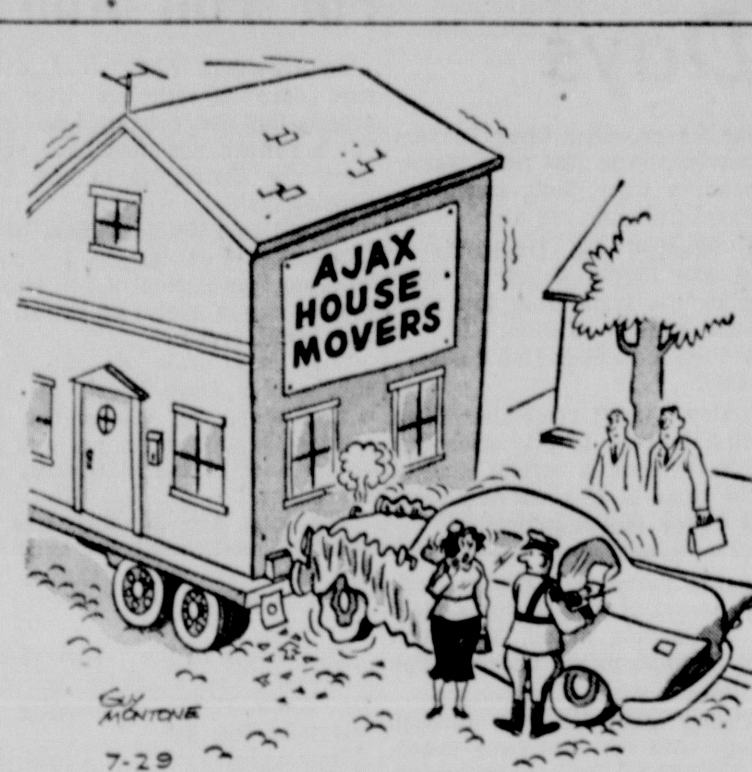

"The ruling circles of the imperialist camp also, of course, have some kind of common views. Their (minds?) work in a single direction—how to wipe the socialist state off the face of the earth and destroy communism as the outlook of hundreds of millions of workers; how to perpetuate exploitation and oppression of the working people. But just as nature did not destine pigs to look up at the sky, so the schemes of the imperialists to destroy the countries of socialism are not destined to succeed."

Apparently, it is perfectly proper for the Kremlin to destroy the countries which are not socialist, to intrigue against governments with which it has treaties of friendship, but it becomes a heinous offense to assist once sovereign and free peoples to liberate themselves from Soviet tyranny.

Thus far, some 15 or 16 countries have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State, but not a single country has been conquered by the United States. On the contrary, since World War II, the United States has given the Philippines independence and Puerto Rico dominion status which in many respects is more advantageous than independence.

Khrushchev, in this particular speech, said: "The friendship and unity of the socialist countries is based on a different foundation. The peoples of our countries have set themselves the aim of creat-

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE BIGGEST ELEPHANT in the Berlin Zoo expired of old age, and its trainer was inconsolable. Finally the Zoo boss told him, "It's ridiculous to carry on that way. We expect to replace it, you know." "Easy enough for you to talk," wailed the trainer. "Just remember who has to dig the grave!"

In darkest Africa, Explorer Henry Morgan uncovered an ebony-hued gentleman who did everything backward. At the annual festival where his tribe would gather on the left bank of a river and exchange wives—a quaint local custom—this contrary gent invariably turned up on the right bank. Why? Because he didn't know which side his bride was battered on.

Henry also accepted the challenge that he couldn't invent a pun on the word "hippopotamus." He rifled through the pages of Shakespeare, came up with "Oh what a rogue and hippopotami." That Morgan is still alive is a testimonial to the artocious marksmanship of his associates.

Onset of Mental Ills

By Herman N. Bundensen, M.D. Although few of us realize it, all of us have emotional setbacks some time during our lives. Sometimes it is easy to adjust to normalcy again, sometimes it isn't.

For mental illness, you see, can, as one psychiatrist puts it, be as serious as cancer or as mild as a common cold.

Between 50 and 70 per cent of the medical patients treated by physicians have some emotional complications which are an important factor in their illnesses.

How can you tell whether you or a member of your family is headed for an emotional breakdown?

Well, a noted psychiatrist, Dr. Samuel Lieberman, medical director of the Winnetka North Shore Hospital near Chicago, has listed ten of the most frequent "tip-offs."

1. Irritability, nervousness, inability to work effectively and job-hopping.
2. Excessive fears and doubts, anxieties, phobias, fits of depression.
3. Continual unhappiness, exkovsky, Bach, Mozart, Rimsky-Korsakov have produced for the universe.

Edison's electric light burns equally in a palace and a hut, in China, Pakistan, Moscow or New York. The atom and hydrogen bombs will kill us all without regard to nationality or benefit us all.

Khrushchev, however, lives on promises which to those who are without many of the benefits that we already enjoy, afford a swift glance into a heaven on earth to come. That particular king of life can be found in New York, London, Paris, Bonn and hundreds of other cities in the Western world.

WHO'S IN SIGHT?—A member of Jordan's Arab Legion sights down the barrel of a rifle of one of Britain's paratroopers at Amman, Jordan. The paratroopers are in Jordan at that nation's request in current Middle East crisis.

Recruits for Yaks Sought

By Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Unlike many professional comedians, Henry Youngman doesn't discourage newcomers from trying to find a career in the yak industry.

"People say 'Cut out the comedy,'" he remarked. "But don't believe them. There's a million dollars in it if you can make enough people laugh."

"In what other business can you make a million dollars—and carry your inventory in your head?" Youngman, celebrating his 25th year as a one-man gag factory, has long been known in the trade as one willing to help a talented young beginner find his way around.

What does it take to get started as a comedian today?

"The thing you need most today is wealthy parents, or a do-it-yourself comedy kit consisting of $50,000 in the bank," said Henry. "You start out by telling jokes until you become the life of any party you attend. Then someone will tell you, 'You're a riot. You ought to be on the stage.'"

"After that you go to a dictation school and learn to talk with your mouth full of marbles. Each day you drop one marble. When you've lost all your marbles, you'll be a comic."

"Then you take your $50,000 out of the bank and spend it buying fresh jokes, costumes, building a number of routines, and finding an agent. By the time you've spent the $50,000 you should be working—or else you'll never laugh again."

Henry has an unfair advantage over most comedians. He was born in Brooklyn. But he insists he became a comic in self-defense.

"I was a fiddler in a dance band, and a lousy one," he admitted. "The couples used to make comments on my playing as they danced by, and I started to wisecrack back. Things just went on from there. I used my bow less and less—and my mouth more."

Henry is what is known as a standup comedian. They have one of the toughest jobs in show business—to go out cold on a stage, without props or plot, and make an audience of strangers laugh, whether they want to or not. This is an art which even Jackie Gleason, one of the most astute situation comedians of his day, has never quite mastered.

"There are very few bombshells or boff comedians around now—such as Milton Berle, Red Skelton and Bob Hope," said Henry. "It's a new age of comedy—the age of charm. The tiptoe comedians have taken over. They have crew cuts and the little-boy appeal.

"They are lightweight charmers and they get light laughs. They don't have to be hilariously funny—just charming and pleasant. The audience loves them, so anything they say is funny."

Youngman isn't bitter about the change. Just philosophical. He feels there will always be room for a few rapid-fire old-timers such as himself.

Henry has noted one other major change in recent years. "Men used to be the biggest hecklers in night clubs," he said. "Now it's the women."

"I suppose it's a reaction against being held back for so many years. But when a group of them go into a night club they want to be heard—they want everyone to know they are there, and spending a few bucks."

Here are a few remarks Henry uses to silence obstreperous women who try to get into the act: "Some women bring happiness wherever they go. But you bring happiness whenever you go."

"If Moses had seen you, there'd have been another commandment. 'But you have to be careful in squelching women,'" said Henry. "You try to kid them, not murder them."

"They might have a big escort along."

The World Today

By James Marlow

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The summit meeting, which now looks dead, was a mixed-up mess before it had a chance to start. This is an explanation of how it was shot before it was born.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev on July 19 called for a summit meeting to restore stability to the Middle East. This was after American and British troops moved in to Lebanon and Jordan at the request of the heads of those governments.

He called the American-British action a threat to world peace. He suggested the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and India take part in the meeting. The place? He proposed Geneva, Washington, anywhere.

By thus putting the Soviet Union in the role of peacemaker, he gave the Soviets a propaganda advantage. The West couldn't ignore it.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed to the meeting July 22 but suggested it be held in the United Nations Security Council in New York. And he made a very important point:

You're Telling Me!

By HOYT KING
Central Press Writer

Some 8,000 cap makers went on strike, due to a wage controversy, for the first time since their union was founded 110 years ago. Now, that's what we call real headline news!

After lecturing a would-be burglar on the evils of crime, a Washington householder gave him $1. What for—so he could buy a pair of ear plugs?

The bonefish, according to Factographs, gets smaller as it gets older. How do the parents make the kids behave?

North America, a science writer assures us, will get progressively colder during the next half-century. Just something else for those financially unhappy baseball club owners to worry about!

All it takes to be well-dressed these days, says Zadok Dumkopf, is plenty of the wearwithall.

A recently developed variety of lettuce has been given the name of "slobolt." Hope it tastes better than it sounds.

Football, we read, was originated by the Spartans more than 2,000 years ago. That, opines Milt, the sterling printer, is a mighty long time for a sport to be kicking around.

He suggested that the big powers should not—as is usual in the Council—vote on the problems discussed, but rather that they try to reach agreement without voting.

(The United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union—but not India—are permanent members of the Council. They have regular delegates sitting in for them. If a summit meeting was held in the Council the delegates would just turn their seats over to the heads of their governments.)

It was widely reported the Eisenhower administration wanted no part of a summit meeting but was pushed into reluctant agreement by the British. President Eisenhower wrote a very angry letter to Khrushchev. But, in effect, he appeared to agree without saying so flatly to a summit meeting in the Council.

But French Prime Minister Charles de Gaulle didn't go along with Macmillan and Eisenhower. He thought the big powers' delegates in the Council should continue to try to reach some agreement on the Middle East, with a summit conference held elsewhere if it were needed.

On July 23 Khrushchev shot back a fast acceptance of the Eisenhower-Macmillan proposals, agreed to go to New York, and agreed with Macmillan that the meeting should try to reach agreements without voting.

He even suggested the heads of government might be able to get things done in an unofficial way. Which might mean: they could sit in public in the Council for a while but do their real arguing and agreeing behind closed doors.

But he again proposed that India sit in and that the Arab states should take part in the discussion. Under the Council rules any U. N. member not on the Council can ask to be heard in any discussion involving its area. Therefore, as de Gaulle later pointed out, if the Arabs could talk before the Council on the Middle East, Israel, Turkey, Iran and others would have the same right.

If the discussion went further than the Middle East, other nations would want to be heard. In short, as he said, this would no longer be just a summit meeting.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Just recently a young girl wrote to you, asking a solution to her problem of losing boy friends, as soon as she says "No" to their propositions.

You landed on her with great gusto, putting 50 percent of the blame on her shoulders. Usually your advice is outstanding, but this time I take exception. My own experiences are a counterpoint of hers; and I am much older than she.

I'll agree with you that 40 years ago, or more, women set the climate for man's behavior; my own mother corroborates this. And as there are still a few idealists around, who believe it is still the case, a great many men are hiding behind this old bromide—and blaming the women, with a smirk. They get away with it, too.

Believe me, one doesn't have to act the sophisticate, or anything but one's simple self, to get the wolf call today. The great majority of men today just won't see a girl a second time if she doesn't surrender. And let's face it, they don't have to. To be blunt, men aren't interested in virgins, and they sneer in your face if you stick to your guns. They take it as a personal affront, as disparagement of their sex appeal.

You may find it hard to believe; but this is life as it is, today.

Q. R. DEAR Q. R.: The letter to which you refer, from 22-year-old D.A., who lives in Manhattan (as you do), plainly said she didn't want anything "so simple" as advice or condolences from me. Rather, she wanted light from the source. She asked for "comments from men, as to the whys and wherefores of their wolf-type behavior."

Well, it happens that in today's mail, along with your letter, I have a statement from a Texas bachelor, who writes about the influence that girls have on men. His contribution follows here.

M. H. DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Thank you for printing that letter (June 26) from 17-year-old K.B., the girl who is still unloved. Her attitude is beautiful.

Among other things she says: "I cherish the vivid hope of the husband, home and children I am waiting for. And this blueprint is more precious to me than any momentary pleasure to be derived from pastime kissing or necking."

I say "amen" to her philosophy of not throwing yourself away in bits and pieces, in the name of love or fun, before you marry. Girls like K. B. can really be an inspiration to us poor guys—help us live up to our ideals, make us men instead of animals.

If there were more girls like her, and if they dressed like ladies in the presence of guys, you may be sure that chivalry would flower again. I hope that K. B., and other lovely girls like her, won't ever dress in the suggestive fashions that coax us poor males to go astray from our ideals.

The fashions I mean are, mainly, the shorts and the tight clothes, especially pants, that emphasize rather than conceal; also the low-cut seductive-type dresses and gowns. Girls dressed in such clothes influence an awful lot of guys to immoral behavior.

I'm modesty breeds impurity. Impurity is preoccupation with lust. Lust is slavery, the opposite of love. Modesty fosters purity. Purity is the essence of love. Love makes a person free to do what is good in the sight of God and mankind.

H. F. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Van Wert Radio Outlet Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A grant to Van Wert Broadcasting Co. for a new 1220-kilocycle, 250-watt daytime radio station at Van Wert, Ohio, has been recommended by Communications Commission examiner Annie N. Hunting. She said Monday that a competing application has been withdrawn and Saginaw, Mich., station WKMX, operating on an adjacent frequency, has amended a power increase application to eliminate conflict.

Gary Crosby Doing OK Now

Bing's Eldest Son Doffs Army Uniform

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gary Crosby, a chunky, blond replica of his famous father, Bing, is back from the Army to launch his own career—and doing right nicely.

Without even a breather, he jumped out of Army khaki into a cadet's uniform. He plays a student soldier who has a spree in New Orleans, along with Pat Boone, Tommy Sands and Richard Sargent. The picture: "Mardi Gras."

In addition he has TV guest spots, a record contract with Verve, talk of movie roles and the chance to play Las Vegas.

Does all this make him happy? Well, not really. Bing has laughingly called his eldest son a "bundle of bitterness." There's no doubt that Gary, 24, is a serious young man, though he has a ready wit and, like his father before him, sings snatches of songs between scenes.

Perhaps his seriousness is the normal veteran's anxiety to make a go of it after returning from the service. Also, it appears Army life did not agree with him.

"How's that?" I recalled that his pa once remarked that the Army would do a world of good for Gary.

"That's HIS story," Gary retorted. "He's never been in the service. He doesn't know what it's like."

The lad readily admitted he is no walking recruiting poster. He blames service life for physical troubles he is now enduring. For one thing, a bad stomach.

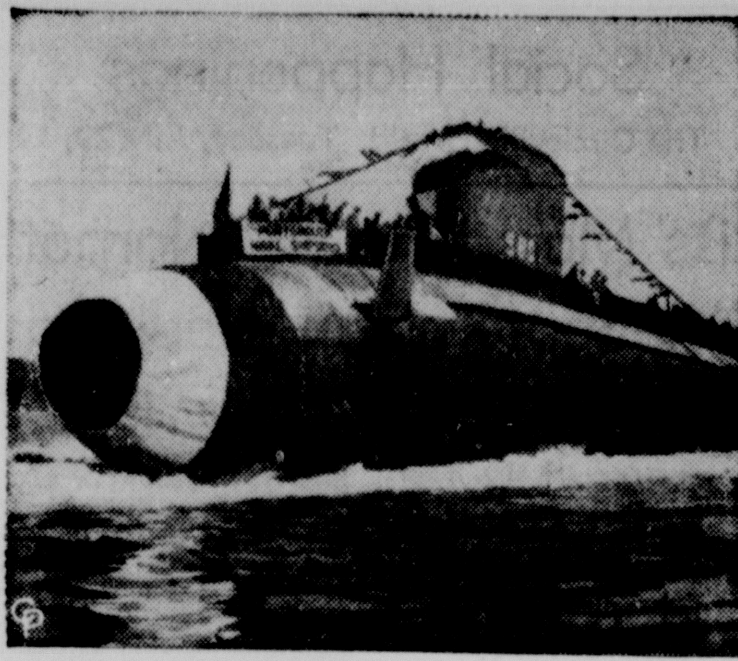

Gary tends toward beefiness. He was over 200 pounds in his football days.

"Now I'm down to 178, about as far as I can go," he said. "I'm big-boned and heavy-muscled and I get weak if I weigh any less. Diet? Nope, I didn't need to. I just don't eat much since the Army. Bad stomach."

He said he also developed a neuro-convulsive condition for which he takes treatment. But he denied reports he consults a psychiatrist.

"The doctor I go to is also a psychologist or something like that," he said, "but he's no head-shrinker."

Gary spent much of his time in Germany, appearing on the Army radio and touring camps with an entertainment troupe.

Alert Ohio Solon Saves State $10,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rep. J. Frank McClure's memory has saved the state $10,000.

As a result, a check for $7,000 instead of $17,000 went to the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland today in payment for buildings the school constructed on state land in Mohican Forest, Ashland County.

McClure, Ashland County Republican, is a member of the state controlling board. When the board was asked to pay for buildings at the campsite, the veteran legislator recalled an agreement for abandoning the site used as an engineer training camp. The school agreed to give the state all permanent buildings.

The request for payment showed that the institute was asking the state for $10,000 for a semi-permanent building that actually was a permanent structure.

McClure recalled the agreement under which the permanent building should go to the state for nothing.

Result: A $10,000 saving to the state, which plans to develop the site for a camp in northeastern Ohio similar to the Tar Hollow camp in southern Ohio.

Lighthouse Handed New Crazy Look

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Buffalo Harbor's three-story lighthouse has a new, crazy look today.

The light's out of whack and the brick and cement structure is tilted against the breakwater at a raking angle.

It's been that way since a Great Lakes ore boat came swinging neatly on the verandah.

For Coast Guardsman George Harrington, who was tending the light at the time, it was a narrow squeak.

The sailor from Elmira was taking his ease, gazing out the window, when he saw the 8,000-ton vessel heading his way.

He watched with considerable interest as the 590 foot steamer got bigger and bigger, wondering when it would turn.

When he suddenly realized it wouldn't he shot down three flights of stairs and out just ahead of the crash.

The impact put a nasty dent in the bow of the boat, the Frontenac, owned by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

No one was injured. Cmdr. Willis A. Brusco, a Coast Guard inspector, said Sunday.

Slayer of Bookie Sentenced to Die

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) Common Pleas Judge Clifford L. Belt Monday sentenced Richard F. Rutherford to die in Ohio's electric chair Nov. 20 for the slaying of a bookie last year.

The judge announced the sentence in overruling a motion for a new trial for the 29-year-old Bridgeport man. He was convicted Nov. 22 of first degree murder in the death of Lawrence Price, 30-year-old Bridgeport bookie.

Price was hit with an unknown object which was never found. He also was robbed. Police said the attack resulted from attentions Price was paying to Rutherford's girl friend.

"there was no mechanical failure of any kind. I think it was an error in judgment."

The Frontenac, which had delivered a load of iron ore here, limped off to Ashtabula, Ohio, Sunday.

Broadway Show May Help Dems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A decision on using the Broadway show "Sunrise at Campobello"—story of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's struggle with polio—on a nationwide closed-circuit TV hook-up will probably come from Democratic national headquarters this week, the Ohio State Journal here said today.

The original Broadway cast would be used, and the show piped over a closed circuit to theaters in large cities, the newspaper said. Profits would help defray campaign expenses, and state and local party organizations, which would sponsor it, would share in profits.

National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler has talked about it with Michael V. DiSalvo, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio and originator of the idea, the newspaper added.

Graduate student Roger Price, experimenting at the Laboratory of Ornithology, Cornell University, is pursuing a special project which he hopes will earn him a Ph.D. degree. He is studying the hearing of owls.

Mrs. Downing Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Charles W. Mills Jr., Washington C. H. and Mrs. G. Rodney Dean, Columbus, were hostesses Monday evening for a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Harry Lee Downing, the former Patty Orr.

The gifts were placed under a pink and white decorated umbrella on a linen covered table with small pink wedding bells grouped at the corners. Large white bells were hung from the chandelier.

Contests were presented with prizes being won by Mrs. Robert Shaeffer, Mrs. Earl Orr and Mrs. Charles W. Mills.

Following Mrs. Downing's opening of the gifts, refreshments were served in keeping with the pink and white color scheme. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Fuller Merritt, Mrs. Gene Donohoe, Rhonda Dean and Cinda Mills.

New Decorating Tricks Mirrors Can Perform

Too many pictures can make a room look crowded and stuffy, no matter how beautiful they are.

However, the right mirror, if it is chosen carefully, will add a dramatic touch. It will also reflect the light in a way that will make the room appear larger and handsomer.

small mirrors used in decorative ways. Alone, or in groups, they can be arranged to give very unusual effects.

For example, you can dramatize a long wall by hanging three long, slim mirrors fairly close together. This arrangement is particularly attractive over a sofa, chest or even the headboard of a bed.

Some new unframed mirrors which come studied at the top and bottom with large cloisonne knobs are perfect for such an arrangement.

Another new design is a hexagonal mirror in a pastel porcelain frame. Four of these six-sided frames look distinctively smart when hung in close harmony. Because of their color, they lend themselves to all sorts of mix-match tricks with other accessories.

Well-designed mirrors can be inexpensive enough to permit a decorating splurge for much less than any other wall treatment. And nothing is more striking.

When they need cleaning, there's a little suds-and-water trick that will make them positively brilliant.

To remove all the stubborn spots, work them over with thick suds on a cloth that has been dipped in warm water and then wrung out. Then add a little kerosene or ammonia to clear water and rinse.

Dry the mirror surface with a lint-free cloth or a crumpled newspaper.

This produces a wonderful, lasting polish and shine that will reflect the charm of your room for weeks to come.

Redleg Rookie Pitcher Defeats Cleveland, 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CINCINNATI (AP)—George McWilliams is a soft-spoken 20-year-old giant from Anguilla, Miss., who makes the Cincinnati Redlegs feel pitching - prosperous despite some opening-night jitters.

He mopped his flushed face in the Redleg dressing room Monday night and admitted he was "just a bit nervous" about his first big league trial.

The 6-foot-4 righthander, up for the night from Palatka of the Class D Florida State League, had just beaten the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, on eight hits in an exhibition game.

"This certainly is different than Palatka," he said, looking around the big Redleg clubhouse.

"And these men certainly do back you up in the field," he added.

McWilliams was flown to Cincinnati to pitch this game at the urging of Redleg boss Birdie Tebbetts.

"I asked Gabe Paul (Redleg general manager) to bring in one of our more promising pitchers so I could see him before spring training," Birdie said.

Tebbetts was treated to the sight of a poised fireball hurler who also produced an efficient curve, striking out five Indians and walking one.

"I was particularly impressed by the way he kept the ball inside on batters and how he did not get behind many hitters," said Tebbetts.

This is the first season of professional baseball for McWilliams who starred for Mississippi State College. At Palatka this season, he has stacked up a 10-7 record.

McWilliams is one of the bright young hurling prospects for the Redlegs who were suddenly confronted with a poverty of pitching last season after several years of teams with big hitters.

The kid looked good out there," said Redleg Coach Jimmy Dykes. "But I've got a little advice for Rocky Colavito."

Colavito, strong-armed Cleveland rightfielder, pitched the fifth and sixth innings and struck out five men.

"When I was with the Athletics," Dykes said, "I could throw just as hard as Colavito and I thought for a week or so that I could be a pitcher until some big lefthand hitter on the Senators really decapitated me."

"That made me an infidel again."

Indian Manager Joe Gordon had had Colavito pitching now and then with the idea of using him in late innings.

"We think he can throw as hard as anyone in the American League," Gordon said.

"When he warms up before the game, he really fires that ball and the catchers don't like to catch him."

Gordon said he now has complete confidence to use Colavito occasionally as a spot relief pitcher.

And Birdie Tebbetts added, "He has one of the strongest arms I've ever seen on an outfielder."

But although Colavito struck out five men in the two innings, the Redlegs scored one run against him.

That was in the sixth inning when Pete Whisenant singled, stole second and rocketed home on Dee Fondy's single.

The Redlegs had scored one run in each of the first three innings.

highlighted by Frankie Robinson's homer in the second.

In the first inning, Johnny Temple led off with a triple and scored while Dan Morejon was nabbed at first.

Temple singled in the third, stole second and reached third on a wild throw by Russ Nixon. But the Redleg second baseman was nabbed at home on Morejon's tap to short. Morejon, who went on to second, scored on Whisenant's single to left.

Earl Averill picked up the first Cleveland run in the third, starting with a single, reaching second while Billy Moran was stopped at first and scoring on Don Mossi's single.

Moran drove in Minnie Mino in the seventh and Averill homered in the ninth.

Vic Wertz returned to first base for the Indians for the first time since fracturing his ankle in spring training March 30. He played five innings and went hitless in three trips. Wertz had been a pinch hitter twice last week, getting one hit.

The Redlegs have the first of three games with San Francisco's high-flying Giants tonight, with Brooks Lawrence slated to oppose Stu Miller or Ramon Monzant.

The Indians, meanwhile, entertain Baltimore's Orioles, with Gary Bell facing Gimpy Pappas on the mound.

Giants Acting Like Winners These Days

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Things are happening to the San Francisco Giants which happen only to pennant winners.

Even the faithful in rabid Milwaukee may agree when they digest the events which led up to the first of San Francisco's two victories over the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night. The 3-2, 2-1 wins moved the persistent Giants to within one per-centage point of first place Milwaukee.

Early Monday afternoon, Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants was moaning low about his "hitless wonders."

Commented Rigney: "It's fantastic the way everybody has stopped hitting at the same time. We're hitting five and six hop rounds to the infield. The outfielders are charging our blasts to the outfield."

"I guess I'll have to shake them up tonight. Think I'll send (Felipe) Alou and (Bill) White to the outfield and give (Darryl) Spencer a rest. He's played almost every game. I'll play (Ed) Bressoud at short."

When the starting lineup was posted on the dugout wall, only Alou of the planned changes was included.

So what happened in the fifth inning?

Ray Semproch, The Giants' nemesis was on the mound, and one man was on base. Alou came to bat and smacked a homer into the center field stands.

It wasn't the winning run, but it set things up for what happened next.

Phil's relief pitcher Dick Farrell dropped the ball on a routine third-out play in the ninth and the winning run scored.

Park Activity

By Tim Lowery

"I really liked the museum," said Jimmy Lowery, 10, one of the Ted Lewis Park playground members who visited the Ohio State Museum Friday.

Both Ted Lewis Park and Walnut St. playground members spent Friday with a guide touring the museum. All members agreed it was interesting, fun and educational.

The week's activities included softball, badminton, field soccer, a free movie at the Grand Theatre, a bicycle race, a foot race and a ball-catching contest.

Winners of the ball-catching contest in the first round were Jim Lowery, Ronnie Seward and Harriet Jones. Lowery "out-caught" the other two winners for the grand championship. Patty Seward won a ball-catching contest by eliminating every club member.

During the last two weeks of activity, members will be busy planning a picnic at Logan Elm.

DiBiase Collects Rough Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — For the next two weeks Tony Di Biase will be training with the National Guard at Camp Drum in Watertown, N. Y. After Monday night's brawl at St. Nicholas Arena he could stand two quiet weeks at the seashore.

Di Biase won the 10-round scrap on a unanimous decision over Jimmy Archer, a fellow New Yorker, but it wasn't easy. Archer, streaming blood from cuts around both eyes, kept applying pressure to Tony all night long. It was a real tight finish.

Commented Rigney:

"It's fantastic the way everybody has stopped hitting at the same time. We're hitting five and six hop rounds to the infield. The outfielders are charging our blasts to the outfield."

"I guess I'll have to shake them up tonight. Think I'll send (Felipe) Alou and (Bill) White to the outfield and give (Darryl) Spencer a rest. He's played almost every game. I'll play (Ed) Bressoud at short."

Red Athletes Getting Better

Russian Track Stars Edge American Team

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviets are closing in, surely and speedily, on American leadership in sports. And even a controversial ruling and a debatable scoring system can't make it appear otherwise.

In the first United States vs. Soviet Union track and field meet, which ended Monday night, the Soviets outscored the Americans 172 points to 170; their women athletes defeated the American women 63-44; and, most important of all, the American men could only defeat the Soviet men 126 to 109.

As the U. S. team packed to go on to meets in Warsaw, Budapest and Athens, the American women could look back with considerable pride on their performances here. So could some of the men. Unquestionably, the greatest feat of the two-day meet was Rafer Johnson's world record score of 8,302 points in the decathlon, wiping out his own accepted record and the unofficial 8,013 points made by his Soviet rival, Vasily Kuznetsov.

The only things that rankled a bit were the Soviet system of lumping together the scores of men's and women's competition and the disqualification of Gordon McKenzie in the 10,000 meters.

McKenzie's disqualification in a controversial ruling cost the U. S. team a point. He tried to quit the 10,000-meter race and was sent back by Coach George Eastmont. Soviet officials without hearing the American side ruled he was disqualified for leaving the track.

The American men won every running event up to 5,000 meters. Bill Dellinger finished second to the Soviet Union's Hubert Pyranikivi in the 5,000 by a matter of inches in a great performance and Phil Coleman finished second in the steeplechase.

American men scored one-two sweeps in 7 of 19 individual events and also won both relays. Of the 22 men's events, the U. S. won 14. But they had expected to score 8 to 10 points better.

Jim Owens, 31-year-old University of Washington football coach, served six years under coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, three at Kentucky and three at Texas A. & M.

BACK ON JOB—Vic Wertz, Cleveland first baseman, out all season with an ankle injury but now restored to active duty, shows his attitude toward the crutch he had to use so long, as Indian trainer Wally Bock hands him his mitt. Wertz will wear an ankle brace until injury heals completely.

Dietrichs Enjoy Deep Sea Fishing While in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. John Dietrich and daughter, Mareline, 1040 Lynwood Ave., now have a good background for a lot of fish stories after spending a 3-weeks vacation in Houston, Tex.

While in Houston, they were guests of Dietrich's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.

HE'S BACK!—Jim Brown, the National Football league's "Rookie of the Year" in 1957, is back in camp at Hiram, O., with the Cleveland Browns and raring to go. Here's latest photo of Jim. (Central Press)

Wallace O'Donnell, and son, Dr. William O'Donnell.

Dietrich, owner of the local Circle D Recreation bowling alleys and skating rink, said a highlight of the vacation was the experience of deep sea fishing in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Dietrich's fishing trips carried them about 75 miles out into the Gulf. Outside of a little sea sickness, they said they enjoyed every minute of it.

THE MOST enjoyable part of the experience was that they caught some fish. As proof they brought home about 70 pounds of Kingfish and Red Snappers. Dietrich said their largest catch was an 8-pound Kingfish.

Ramon Monzant of the San Francisco Giants led the Carolina League in strikeouts in 1953. He fished 232 for Danville, Va.

Bob Kropflewicki, 19, hurled five no-hitters while winning 25 of 26 decisions for Plains, Pa. High School. The Villanova sophomore has been signed by the Cincinnati Redlegs.

All Mickey Mantle Needed To Beat Slump Was Rest

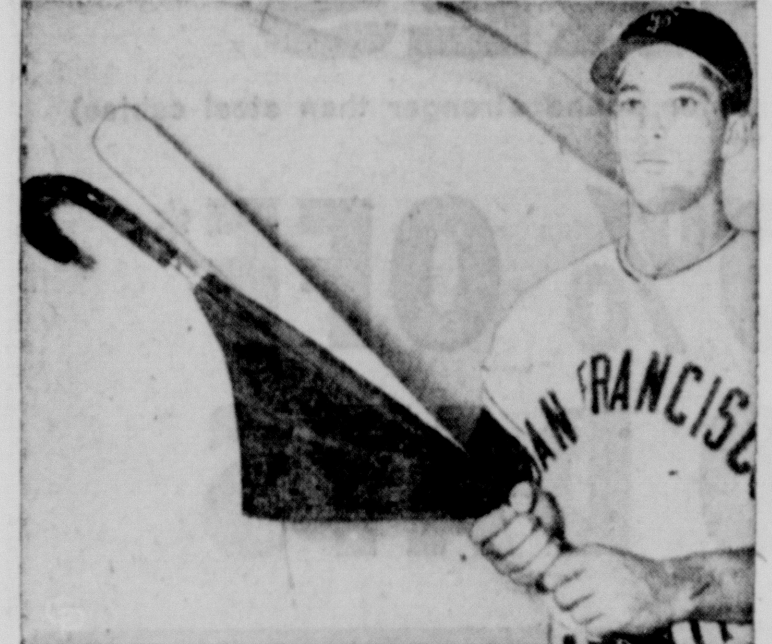

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Apparently the rest cure was all Mickey Mantle needed to emerge from his prolonged batting slump.
Handicapped by a sore right shoulder practically from the start of the campaign, the New York Yankee slugger had stubbornly shrugged off repeated suggestions that he take a brief rest. His batting average dipped as low as .270.
It took another injury — a bruised left forearm — to finally sideline the switch-hitting star just before the team's current

3 Horseshoe Pitchers Unbeaten

MURRAY, Utah (AP)—Two former champs and a pre-natal runner emerged undefeated Monday night in the first five games in the final round-robin of the world horseshoe pitching tournament.
Sporting identical 5-0 won-lost record were defending champion Ted Allen of Boulder, Colo., former champ Fernando Lais of Los Angeles, and Tom Titcomb of Sunnyside, Calif., runner-up the past two years.
They led a field of 14 men who won their way into the final round-robin in three nights of preliminary play that ended Saturday. The current competition runs through Wednesday.
Clive Wahlin of Salt Lake City was the only player with a 4-1 record, losing his lone match to Floyd Toole of Pine Bluff, Ark., by a close 50-44. The tossers pitch the shoes until one of them reaches 50 points.

PLOTTING THEIR STRATEGY?—O'Brien Hanover, one of the top candidates for the $70,000 Little Brown Jug to be raced for Sept. 18 at Delaware, O., smuggles down in his stall with his trainer-rider, Del Miller, between training stints for race.

WHAT'LL IT BE?—Bat or bumbershoot? Jim Davenport, San Francisco infielder, seems undecided as he waits in the Giants' dugout in Philadelphia's ball park hoping for a downpour of rain to go away so a scheduled double-header with the Phils could be played. P. S.—the rain staved.

Brown Cuts Rookie QB From Roster

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — When rookie Jim Ninowski gets away from the College All Star camp he will find the competition at quarterback has diminished by one, here at the Cleveland Browns' camp.
Another rookie, Bob Reinhardt of San Jose State, was released by the eastern division champions Monday. Coach Paul Brown decided he did not have a strong enough arm for the type of passing needed in the pro game.
Milt Plum is the only experienced quarterback the Browns have. Jim Haluska of Wisconsin had only a brief tryout last season, and Bobby Freeman of Auburn was a defensive man in his initial season last year. Haluska, Freeman and later Ninowski, a Michigan Stater, will be competing for the job of backing up Plum.
The Browns also released a rookie candidate for halfback, Ed Garver of Capital University. He proved too light for the tough competition for that post.
The squad now is down to 48 players.
Relief pitcher Herb Motford of the Detroit Tigers pitched 24 innings in 14 games for the 1955 St. Louis Cardinals. He had a 1-1 record.

Pickaway Youth Takes Part In Conservation Camp Program

To help us learn more about conservation in Ohio, there were many activities scheduled at the 23rd State 4-H Conservation Camp at Camp Ohio. Being a delegate from Pickaway County, attended camp July 14-19, 1958.

There were five topics for instruction from which each person chose four. The electives included drainage, forestry, rain at work, soil and organic matter, and wildlife.

A film called "Water of the West" showed the cycle and uses of the water.

To show conservation practices in action, we were taken on a tour of a farm where there were evidences of erosion and the use of ed directly after plowing which proved more than satisfactory.

Each of the delegates helped plan or participated in campfire, candlelighting, flag ceremonies, cook outs, indoor recreation, talent show or vespers. For campfire a cabin of girls and a cabin of boys would form a family. They would put on a number of acts, and the same family would put on a talent show too.

For recreation there was square dancing every evening and swimming in the camp pool every afternoon.

At 4-H Conservation Camp I met new friends and made new acquaintances. There were two delegates from each county in Ohio and two IFYE students from the Philippines and Panama. A variety of interests were represented there for them.

This camp will be memorable to me just for the people with whom I met and talked. But the most valuable thing it gave me was a realization of what conservation really is. The camp showed that conservation is the wise use of human and natural resources by displaying it and putting it into practice.

farm practices that were not suited to the land. We then saw the Coleville Farm which was prosperous and showed the results of the necessary contour strip farming and terraces. There is much to be learned between the two farms.

After learning more about conservation practices and seeing the Hawk Farm as it is now, we received soil conservation farm survey plans of the farms and then in groups of four planned the farm as we would have it. To the group which had the best plan went a non-negotiable $12,000 check to be used to put their plans into action.

THEN THE BUS tour to the Coshocton Soil and Water Research Station with stops at a saw mill and Mohawk Dam was one of the high points of the week. At the research station we saw many experiments being performed, including the planting of corn without any tillage. The corn was planted

CHS Key Club Earns Kiwanis Merit Award

Tom Greeno, president of the Circleville Key Club of Circleville High School, has been informed by Kiwanis International of the local club's winning a Certificate of Merit for 1958.

From approximately 700 Key Clubs throughout the United States and Canada, the local club earned one of the 25 awards given this year.

In order to qualify for such an award, a club is examined according to its service projects to school and community, its relations with the school administration and local Kiwanis Club, the character and scholastic standings of its members, and its monthly achievement reports.

This is the first such award for the local club since it was formed three years ago.

President Greeno, David Young, Robert Shadley Jr., James Patrick and Gordon Anderson, faculty and Kiwanis sponsor for the club, recently returned from Chicago, Ill., where they attended the fifteenth International Convention. It was at this meeting that the winning of the certificate was announced.

Well-Plugging Job Eyed by Road Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways is going into the well-plugging business.

After contractors began work on the North-South Freeway (Ohio 1) in Ashland and Wayne counties, they discovered two abandoned gas wells. So, on Tuesday, Aug. 19, the department will open bids so it can award a contract to have the wells plugged.

Most of the projects for which bids will be opened are for resurfacing roads. But there are several large construction projects.

Another section of the Cincinnati-Dayton six-lane freeway will be up for bids. The multi-million-dollar section is in Montgomery and Warren counties and includes a number of bridges. Total roadway, including that for bridges and approaches, will be about six miles.

The department also will open bids for beefing up more than 11 miles of Ohio 78 in Monroe County, to serve new industries along the Ohio River. Some of the road be-

"I'm going on a diet"

PERHAPS overeating is the most common dietary indiscretion. The natural result of overeating is obesity. It has been said that we in America eat ourselves into a premature grave. The pendulum then frequently swings back to the other extreme. We go on a diet. Many self-imposed reducing diets wouldn't keep a bird alive, and often serious vitamin, mineral, and protein deficiencies result.

In recent years great strides have been made in our knowledge of nutrition. For the maintenance of optimal health, one must be assured that proper balance of various foods is maintained. For dietary advice of any kind see your physician. You can then be certain that all bodily needs are being adequately met. Bring your prescriptions to us.

Repayment Of Pay Not To Be Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sadie Lobe, who worked for the Internal Revenue Service for 35 years, won't have to repay eight years' salary to the government.

A bill cancelling the $22,348.50 the government claimed Miss Lobe owed was approved Monday by the Senate and sent to the White House.

Employed by the IRS in Cleveland, Miss Lobe was fired in 1954 because she said in her original employment application that she was a U.S. citizen, born in London. On another form in 1954, she left that out.

Questioned, she said she had learned she was not a citizen and was actually born in Russia and never naturalized. She was removed from the service for falsifying her birthplace.

"The circumstances surrounding her place of birth and citizenship were matters of which she may, or may not, have been aware."

"At the time of her separation (in 1954), she was entrusted with a responsible position and had a very creditable employment record. After 35 years of service, she has been denied all rights to a pension under the Civil Service Retirement System."

"In view of these extenuating circumstances, the Treasury Department believes that Miss Lobe has been sufficiently punished."

3 Stark County Men Missing on Lake Trip

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Three men from Minerva, Stark County, are overdue after starting a lake trip. William Rigby, 58, Jack Waseman, 38, and Bill Waseman, 39, brought a 16-foot outboard motor boat to this area Thursday. Relatives, expecting them back Sunday, asked the Coast Guard to conduct a search. The men were to have visited friends on Pelee Island but have not been seen there.
